Dear ListiaTeam,

I am a web developer with experience in Ruby on Rails and JavaScript. I really like what Listia is doing with creating an online auction house using digital credits, and I would be super excited to help build your services.

I have always liked computers, so while I was in college working toward my Chemistry degree, I got started programming in C and Python. More recently, I completed an intensive programming course in full-stack web development at App Academy in San Francisco.

For your consideration, my resume includes links to my recent projects and portfolio.

Warm Regards,

Weyman Fung
